Bio

Recently named one of the Top 20 World-Leading Futurist Speakers, as well as one of the Top 25 Women in the Metaverse, Amelia Kallman is a leading London futurist, speaker, author, and host. She has spoken at over 100 conferences across 20+ countries, advised the House of Lords and the U.N., written industry-leading reports, and regularly consults for a number of Fortune 500 companies.

As a technology communicator, Amelia shares her research and insights on the future impact of new technologies with brands, agencies, and governments. She forecasts global trends and behaviours, helping clients navigate innovation, build strategies, and deliver industry-leading initiatives.

She specialises in the emerging opportunities - as well as the risks - of technologies such as AI, XR, blockchain, and quantum computing. Recent areas of study include sustainability, Gen-Alpha, Web 5.0, and the surfacing human rights issues of tomorrow.

Host of XR Star, Blockchain in the Metaverse, and The Big Reveal, her clients include AT&T, Bloomberg, Allianz, Adobe, Financial Times, Puma, PWC, Unilever, JLL, Keywords Studios, Bending Spoons, Lloyd's, Red Bull, and UK Parliament. She is also a mentor and activist, and is currently writing her third book.
